

We find ways

No matter how difficult or unique the challenge is, we find ways.

Silcotech Group is a multinational liquid silicone molding company and one of the most significant and technically advanced liquid-silicone molders in the world.

Silcotech was founded in Switzerland more than 20 years ago. Since then Silcotech group has established more facilities around the world – in Spain, Canada, and recently in Bulgaria and China.

The intellectual exchange of technological advances among Silcotech companies around the world is the key feature which makes Silcotech a global leader in silicone injection molding.

Silcotech Tooling and Automation knowledge enables us to provide you with the desired silicone parts, the best service possible and all for a reasonable price.

Silcotech's own developments, such as cold runner systems, silicone mixing systems and mother-mold systems enable us to manufacture precise and cost-effective products.

Silcotech is an expert in two component injection molding: silicone over thermoplastics and silicone over silicone. Silcotech can also offer production in clean room environment.

Silcotech's uncompromised quality control system is sustained by maintaining a database of all processes performed - dates of production, materials employed, in-process inspection and final inspection.

Silcotech China is part of Silcotech Group, with manufacturing facilities in China-Guangdong province. As part of the group, Silcotech China uses the knowledge and technical abilities of its partners, offering high quality precision silicone molding and attractive prices in China.
